The Twelve Fruits

Meditations on the Holy Ghost. By C. J. WOOLLEN. 20/-

Here is a book written with an explicit and eminently practical object. It aims at dispelling the misunderstanding which has relegated the Fruits to the realm of abstraction, and insists that the Fruits should be manifested in the daily life of the normal Catholic.

Discourses on the Holy Ghost

Compiled and edited by Rev. L. M. DOOLEY, S.V.D. 20/-

This book of Devotional Readings for Priests, Religious and Laity is rich and scholarly in content, and so varied as to please all and satisfy the most fastidious.

Further Discourses on the Holy Ghost

Compiled and edited by Rev. L. M. DOOLEY, S.V.D. 10/-

The natural sequel to 'Discourses on the Holy Ghost', this volume presents twenty discourses for adults and five for children by religious and diocesan priests especially qualified to write them.

The Month of the Holy Ghost

By Sister M. EMMANUEL, O.S.B. 17/-

As the author says in her Foreword: 'It was to make Saints that the Holy Ghost was sent upon this earth, and it is the Saints who can best teach us by their own lives what this Beneficent Friend and Comforter can and will do for us all if we but let Him.'

Guidance of Religious

By Rev. I. WATTEROTT, O.M.I. 45/-

This volume is unusual, perhaps unique, because it is addressed, not to religious in general, but to religious superiors. The author, who was himself such a superior and who had experience in preaching retreats to religious superiors, has a sympathetic understanding of their problems and needs. His judgement is wise, his counsel prudent, his exhortations inspiring.

Reason to Revelation

By Rev. J. SAUNDERS, S.J. 26/-

In treating problems connected with revelation, mysteries, miracles, the Gospels, the divinity of Christ and His resurrection, the author gives a solid rational foundation to the whole body of Catholic truth and at the same time stresses the modern and most prevalent errors.
