

Figures

0.1	British College of Health, “The Obscene M.D.,” 1852.	page 2
1.1	Frontispiece and title page, The Secrets of Nature Revealed , c. 1832.	23
1.2	Illustration and title page, William Dugdale’s edition of Charles Knowlton, Fruits of Philosophy , 1838.	40
1.3	Advertisements for French letters and medical works, Ward’s New Catalogue of Parisian Novelties , c. 1850.	45
1.4	Holywell Street publishers’ advertisements. The Era , June 2, 1844.	46
1.5	Frontispiece and title page, Aristotle’s Master-Piece; or, Every Woman’s Book , c. 1830.	52
2.1	Title pages for English, French, and Spanish editions of J. L. Curtis, Manhood: The Causes of Its Premature Decline , 1850s.	62
2.2	Plate 10, illustrating childbirth, in Horace Goss, Woman: Her Physiology and Functions , 1853.	66
2.3	Different copies of the same illustration in 1850s editions of I. A. Jacques, The Secret Preceptor , Samuel La’Mert, Self-Preservation , and John A. Lewis, Controul of the Passions .	78
2.4	Advertisement for Perry & Co’s The Silent Friend . Shrewsbury Chronicle , September 7, 1849.	85
3.1	“Next door” advertisements for regular and irregular medical works in Bell’s Life in London , February 14, 1858, 2.	118
4.1	Title page with disclaimer, Revised Edition of the Works of Aristotle , 1857.	136
5.1	Frontispiece depicting a nude male with syphilis, Alfred Cooper, Syphilis , 1895.	173
6.1	Handbill by Henry Cook, proclaiming “A Book Revolution in Sims’s Alley!”	187
6.2	Annie Besant and Charles Bradlaugh on the front page of the Illustrated Police News , June 30, 1877.	194

6.3	Advertisements for contraceptive devices and freethought literature in Annie Besant, The Law of Population , 1887.	200
7.1	Title page for Jacobus X, Untrodden Fields of Anthropology , 1898.	226